

SOCIETY AND OTHER INTERESTS OF WOMEN

IN MILADY'S BOUDOIR

BY GWEN SEARS.

TIGHT COLLARS RUINOUS.

Quite apart from consideration of health, tight neckbands and collars should be avoided from babyhood. But they seldom are, so that many a girl of eighteen possesses a neck devoid of even the almost inevitable beauty of youth.

While tight collars are ruinous to the contour and usually to the poise of the head, high ones destroy the texture and color of the skin and accomplish this all the more rapidly if the collar is tight as well as high. The muscles of the neck become shrunken and the skin flabby and dark, often spotted with wear. If one finds it necessary to wear high collars, to business, the collar should be loose, and not over two inches in height.

Before retiring the neck and throat should be thoroughly bathed, and if the skin sags, another treatment is required. This consists of a bandage of cotton gauze applied after an astringent bath of alcohol or lavender cologne.

The bandage is tied at the top of the head and absorbs the stringent lotion. If worn all night a skin food must be patted into the neck first and allowed to absorb, but when the stringent bath, with or without the bandage, is applied in the morning, the skin food comes last and is used to plump the neck.

All wrinkled, brown, unsightly necks one sees exposed at the opera or theater every evening, might have been avoided had their owners worn comfortable Dutch-cut, loose blouses during the day.

What the French Maid Told Marjorie

BY JANE LOWELL.

CARE OF SHOES.

"My shoes always look so dowdy. They seem to keep clean and nice such a short time that I am nearly discouraged," said Marjorie dolefully as she came upon Marie rearranging her boudoir one afternoon.

"Shoes are an extravagance any way if you keep them looking well," said Marie "but you can lengthen the term of their good looks very easily. Shall I tell you how?"

"Oh, yes, please do," answered Marjorie. "Auntie's shoes always look just as spick and span as if they had just come out of the shop. How do you manage it, Marie?"

"I'll give you a few hints," consolingly remarked Marie. "For instance tan shoes worn in summer and for stormy days should not be polished with any preparation. When they become soiled, moisten a soft cloth and rub it lightly across a piece of ivory soap, and with this just wash off the dirt. Let the soap remain in the leather and polish it with the palm of the hand or a soft flannel cloth. This makes them like new; they show no evidence of darkening or becoming so shiny as after usual polishes are applied.

All white leathers other than kid are best cleaned with soap and water. The preparations made for this purpose merely cover the dirt, which shows again as soon as they rub off. A stiff nail brush, plenty of water and soap or soap powder will do the thing beautifully.

But even with care shoes will get scuffed and then comes a whole process of renewing. Buy for 25c a bottle of bronzing, with this any white, gray or other light-colored leather can be made to shine like new.

Two fairly heavy coats should be given the first time and then allowed to dry thoroughly, after which it will not need to be done for some time.

VISITOR LIKES SOUTH BEND.

An interested visitor whose calls take him to all parts of the country recently remarked that no finer residence district could be found in the middle west than that traversed by the Portage avenue car line. The extension of this line beyond the viaduct has had a great tendency to encourage building in this part of the city. Scarcely a vacant lot remains as far out as the trolley wires swing.

Excellent transportation is at the door of home builders in the new Samuel Good addition, now being placed on the market by Joseph A. Werwinski. The addition starts at the 1800 block on Portage avenue. The freedom from factory noise and smoke, the absence of railroad crossings and the pure air of the high elevation, make this addition most desirable from a residence standpoint.

As an investment the lots are attractive, for the city is growing rapidly in this direction. The Samuel Good addition is located within 15 minutes of the business and western factory districts. Lots can be had from $150 up, with payments as low as $1 a week. No taxes, grade curb and cement walks included in the low first cost. Phone BL 1400, or Home 6646, or call at suite 224.

CLAUER'S
JEWELRY STORE

To Regain a Healthy, Girlish Complexion

If you would have a clear, fresh, girlish complexion, one ounce of ordinary household soap will do you in this direction more than shaves full of cosmetics. It produces a natural beauty. This wax, procurable at any drugstore, completely absorbs a bad complexion, revealing the healthy young skin underneath. Its work is done so gradually day by day, that no inconvenience is caused. The wax is applied at night, like cold cream, and removed in the morning with soap and water.

Another valuable rejuvenating treatment—this for wrinkles—is to bathe your face in a solution of powdered saccharin 1 oz. dissolved in ½ pt. witch hazel. This has a remarkable action in smoothing out the lines and "firming up" the loose tissue.—Adv.
